

Criterion: What have you got for a 3 year old that still need some pictures but will sit and listen to long stories.

Created on: March 8, 2018

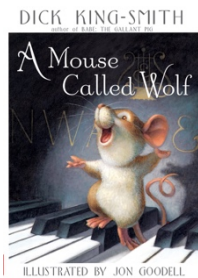

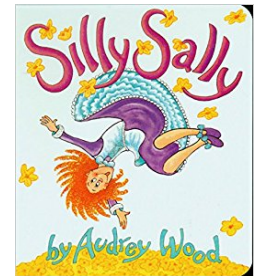

1. Caps for Sale by Esphyr Slobodkina – A wonderful repetitious story about a cap peddler and a bunch of monkeys

2. Time For Ballet by Adele Geras, illus. by Shelagh McNicholas – Simple story about getting ready for ballet lessons leading up to the big performance.

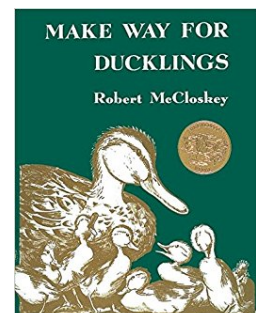

3. Sarah May and the Red Dress by Andrea Spalding and Janet Wilson – Sarah May gets a new dress but it is an ugly boring color. She doesn't know that the wind has something else in store.

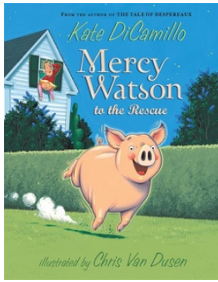

4. Silly Sally by Audrey Wood – Ridiculously silly and fun. Bright colors follow Silly Sally as she makes her way to town in the silliest way.

5. A Wolf Called Mouse by Dick Kingsmith – A short chapter book about a mouse that loves music and who is called Wolfgang Amadeus Mouse... or Wolf for short.

6. Make Way for Ducklings by Robert McCloskey – A classic and an award winner. The growing duck family needs to find a new home and not even a busy street will get in their way.

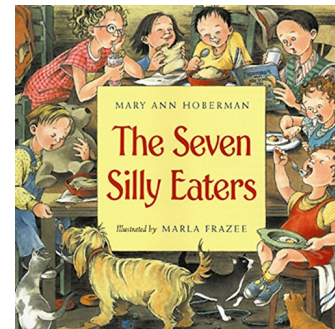

7. Mercy Watson (series) by Kate DiCamillo – A pig that loves buttered toast and lives with a family? Next door old ladies who either love or detest the pig? Hijinks!

8. My Father’s Dragon by Ruth Stiles Gannett – An award winning short chapter book telling the adventurous tale of a father’s journey to a mysterious island to rescue a dragon.

9. Extra Yarn by Mac Barnett, illus. by Jon Klassen – One of those books that sort of defies all convention. A girl finds a box of magic yarn and knits for everyone.

10. Seven Silly Eaters by Mary Ann Hoberman, illus. by Marla Frazee – A family favorite over here. Mrs. Peters caters to each child’s food wishes until they surprise her on her birthday.

∞

Thank you for choosing Stuff of Stories for your booklist creation, I take curating lists such as these very seriously. If the list above is full of wonderful books you have already enjoyed... let me know and it'll be a pleasure to create another one for you!

∞

“The more that you read, the more things you will know. The more you learn, the more places you’ll go.” – Dr. Seuss